ORGANIZE A GOOD BOARD.

I. F. MCINTYRE, GENERAL AGENT OF THE Columbia Building & Loan Association, is the city for the purpose of organizing a local branch here. The Columbia is the largest association in the country and is increasing rapidly. Its plan offering great satisfaction both to investor and borrower. Instead of writing to the home office, when a loan is desired, the local advising board orders the loan, providing the security is ample, the branch office in Reno for instance, having exactly the same powers as the main branch in Denver. Red tape and delay are thus entirely done away with. The rate of interest is 8 per cent per annum payable in 2 monthly payments. Mr. McIntyre will call on our business men in the next few days and it is to be hoped a large local board will be organized. A meeting with several hundred shares has just been formed in Winnemucca.

NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

WE, THE UNDERSIGNED, HEREBY NO- tify all persons that the partnership heretofore existing between us in the name of Cozzens & Wheeler, at Verdi, Washoe county, State of Nevada, in keeping the Depot Hotel and saloon at that place, has been dissolved by mutual consent. The business will be continued by L. Cozzens, individually, hereafter, to whom all dues of said partnership are assigned, and by whom all its liabilities are to be paid.

AN UNTENABLE POSITION.

The cry of "Free coinage or nothing" is a piece of pure crankism. It is the ruse of the demagogue to convince a credulous public of the devotion of that class to the cause they know to be popular. It is not held by a single silver producer in America that we know of. The best informed friends of silver, including such authorities as the Denver papers, the Salt Lake Tribune and the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, prefer the purchase of four and a half million ounces (not dollars worth) per month to absolute free coinage, and for the best of reasons. No sensible man supposes that free coinage would bring silver bullion up to its old ratio in an instant, and to have free coinage of any metal at an inferior ratio will give the stock sharps in the money market just the opportunity to make trouble that they want. This law of business is so plain that any man who does not see it has become a crank and argument is useless. On the other hand let the government absorb all the silver surplus for six months and the market will instantly respond and without any friction or reaction free silver coinage can be resumed on a sound and healthy basis. All the blessings of a scientific monetary system will come to this nation and the return to our normal condition of good prices for land and farm products, abundant employment at living wages with the happiness and intellectual progress always following such a state of affairs, will set in at once.

This nation will look with suspicion upon any class which contributes to the failure of an adequate plan to produce these great results. If unwisdom counsels defeat at this time a larger coinage and a much needed addition to the bulk of our circulating medium, the opportunity will be lost or deferred for years. The financial system of our country will be turned over to the gold gamblers of Wall-street, panics will result, agriculture will be oppressed, manufacturing languish and the people be enslaved. Let not Nevada contribute to such a dismal result.

EMERALDA'S CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR.

The Hawthorne Bulletin presents a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination and gives him the following first-class send-off:

"A chief executive should be chosen in whom all Nevada might feel a pride. The people demand a man in whom are combined integrity, ability, dignity, a knowledge of the needs of the times and the spinal stamina to advance his own convictions and adhere to them.

"Emeralda county has just such a man.

alda Consolidated group of mines in Aurora. He has grown up from youth to middle age in the sagebrush. His name is without a blench. He is a Republican in the truest sense of that term. He has raised himself from the place of an ordinary miner, 'polishing the head of a drill' in the hot Comstock mines, to and through every subordinate position in the gift of the mining companies. He enjoys the confidence and esteem of all who know him. He is essentially a man of the people, and is, withal, a polished parliamentarian. He would fill the office with honor to himself and credit to our State.

"We do not know that Mr. Colcord is seeking the office, but his friends are earnest in their efforts to induce him to become a candidate. Four-fifths of the miners of the State, regardless of party affiliations, will support him—in fact, the leading Democrats of Aurora are his most outspoken advocates.

"If nominated he would make a vigorous canvass. Of a genial and liberal disposition, his very manner would gain for him confidence of all with whom he came in contact, and we firmly believe that he would lead his ticket to a victory more sweeping than any yet gained by the Republican party in this State."

NEVADA'S REPRESENTATIVES.

The Pioche Record, of June 28th, remarks as subjoined:

The Record has seen fit frequently to ensure the acts of public officers, Republican as well as Democratic. It now takes Nevada's delegates in Congress. They are all Republicans and have all stood up nobly in their appointed work. It has been many a long year since Nevada's Representative in the House has been as active as has Mr. Bartine, and Messrs. Jones and Stewart have well maintained their old reputation for reliable and useful work. It is a pleasure to note a credit to public officials and Messrs. Jones, Stewart and Bartine show by their action that those who elected them were wise in their choice. The actions of these three men are creditable both to themselves and the people they represent.

Coming to California.

D. O. Mills is en route to San Francisco, where he is to erect an exact reproduction of the mammoth Mills building in New York City. A Chicago architect accompanies him. Mills spent $3,700,000 on his New York structure. It pays per cent.

Superintendent Porter estimates that the census will show a population of 84,500,000 in the United States. This is a marked increase over the census of 1880, which showed a population of 50,155,783. Great Britain and Ireland only have an estimated population of 38,810,208, France 38,218,905, Germany 48,855,704, Austria-Hungary 41,045,200 and Italy 30,260,065.

SAM SINBAD A SAILOR.

HE ASTOUNDS A NUMBER OF CHICAGOANS ON A STREET CAR.

Stolen from Home When Five Years of Age, He Visits Every Country on the Globe—Slaver, Millionaire and Philosopher—Now Living in Michigan.

Car No. 54 on the south side cable stopped a moment on Wabash avenue at the corner of Randolph street and took on board a tall, straight old man, whose long gray beard swept almost to his waist, but whose bright eye and upright bearing spoke the man of maturity, not decrepitude. At State street, as the car rounded into the loop, a second old man, evidently a farmer, stepped on board and took a seat by the ancient of days. As the train passed on around into Wabash avenue again perhaps a dozen others got on the car, all well dressed and clearly moving in an element aside from that of the two strange characters who sat side by side. The old man moved up to his former companion and the two fell to talking quietly until Haylins theatre was reached. The car stopped and several persons got out to join the crowd pressing into the foyer.

HAD VISITED THEATRES.

"Lots of folks going in there who can't pay their rent," said the ancient. "Lots of 'em don't own the clo's on their back. Got to take 'em home to-morrow and pay rent on 'em."

"Did you ever visit a theatre?" asked the farmer in an effort to be agreeable.

"Yes," said Longbeard, and then after a pause he added, "I've been to a theatre in Hong Kong." He shifted his legs, and bent his eyes kindly on the farmer as a man who knew he had struck hard and was willing to give the victim time to recover.

"Hong Kong in Japan?" asked the farmer, dazed a little, yet hoping his companion meant some city near home.

"No, Hong Kong ain't in Japan; it's in China," said the other. "And I've been to a theatre in Tokio, too; that's in Japan; and in Calcutta."

"Well, you've traveled," said the farmer. "Yes, I've been to shows in Paris and London and Liverpool and Leghorn and Alexandria; and I've been to shows—not theatres, but the best they had—on the east coast of Africa, and in Melbourne, Australia and Honolulu, Sandwich Islands, and I've seen the shows in the Chinese quarter in San Francisco."

Several gentlemen bent forward and fired questions at the old man. He was in no wise disturbed; he looked calmly, kindly on them all, and met every thrust with a precision which showed, "rocky" as he looked, that he had either been over the ground or had studied his story wonderfully well.

"On what ship did you sail to Paris?" asked one of the first.

"Paris ain't no seaport," said the ancient. "I traveled there in 1830 in a diligence. We call 'em omnibuses."

"How old are you?"

"Seventy-nine. I was born in 1810 in Wilton, a little town in New York state, on the edge of an Indian reservation.

In May, 1815, my father's brother, who was a sailor, took me for a walk in the woods, and I didn't get back till 1835. He carried me to New York and put me on board a vessel to Liverpool, that he had shipped on for a three years' voyage.

We never reached New York for seven years, and then I had a good chance to ship again and went off without going home. But I always recollected my folks and where I used to live, and how old I was when uncle took me away.

Then I would talk to sailors, and when a voyage was over I would ship on some craft going where I wanted to go. That way I learned pretty near all languages. Any of you talk French?"

The lady did, and he proved to her his claim to a mastery of that tongue.

"Anybody talk Russian, or Spanish, or German?"

The lady tried him in Spanish and a gentleman present approved his German. The other languages had to be taken on trust, but the passengers exchanged glances eloquent of faith in the ancient.

ONE OF MEACHAM'S HEIRS.

"In 1837," he continued, "I drifted down to New Orleans, and old man Meacham there, a rich old slave dealer—you've all read about him—was getting up a crew for the slave trade, and I shipped with him. He wanted only choice men and he got 'em. He paid every one the best wages for able seamen, and stayed with him five years should get $200,000 from his estate when he died.

"Old Meacham died three years after he hired his crew, and only two fellows stayed in his service till the five years were up. They had got good pay for their work, and good good offers to ship again, and they left and went. I stayed the five years, and got the $200,000 he left me in his will. I went into business for myself then—built a boat for $100,000 and carried passengers to France and England. I wouldn't carry a ton of freight for no money, and my packet was the finest thing that ever floated out of New Orleans. Passengers had to pay for it, though, and I made a heap of money. In 1841 I built the first ironclad boat that was ever put up in Boston. It was before the day of metal bottoms, but I spent $47,000 in iron plates half an inch thick on that boat. She run all right, but she run into an iceberg in a fog and I lost Newfoundland in 1848, and was sunk with crew, passengers and cargo.

"I've built many a vessel in my time, and made a heap of money. I was in the Red sea trade till I lost a square-rigged ship there. I've lost one ship in the Atlantic, two in the Pacific, one in the Red sea and three in the Mississippi river.

"Where do you live now?" asked one of the gentlemen.

"Benton Harbor, Mich. Nice town, too. Just drifted there. Got some money left, but I've lost a heap."

The end of the trip had been reached. The lady had left the car some blocks back, and only three gentlemen stood beside him. The old man turned to go.

"I'm stopping till Tuesday at 2726 Calumet avenue. You can find out there I'm telling the truth. But you young men look here," and he grasped the two nearest him with a vigor that would have done credit to half his years. "I'm old enough to be your grandfather, and I never drank, chewed nor smoked, but I've seen more life in more lands, had more fun and more trouble than all three of you'll ever know about. But take my advice and don't drift."—Chicago Herald.

Lotus Roots Purify Water.

Indian Engineering states that a large basket of the roots of the lotus has been received by the municipality of Bangalore from Tanjore, and is planted out in the beds of the tanks in the station. This aquatic plant is one of the best water purifiers known. It rapidly oxygenates the water, and ridding it of its dead organic matter, brings it into a healthy condition. The presence of such like aquatic plants in reservoirs is said to diminish evaporation.

NEWLANDS AT VIRGINIA.

"The Statehood of Nevada" as Discussed by Him on the Fourth.

The Virginia Chronicle thus epitomizes the oration or address of F. G. Newlands at Virginia on the 4th: Francis G. Newlands, a member of the National Silver Committee, delivered the oration. Instead of indulging in magnificent flights of oratory, as is usually done on occasions of this kind, his remarks were devoted to a discussion of the causes that have produced the depression and stagnation in business in this State. His subject was the "Statehood of Nevada." He claimed that Nevada was called into existence during the war in order to increase the number of loyal States and that in gratitude she turned $600,000,000 into the lap of the Nation, and that the Nation rewarded her by demonetizing silver, thus striking down her greatest industry. The Nation, he said, aimed at her a fatal blow and then derided her when prostrate.

He gave the history of legislation and the National Silver Committee's work. The Senate, he said, was responsive to the will of the people, two-thirds being for free coinage and only seven for bullion redemption. The House is held in bondage by a new triumvirate consisting of Reed, Cannon and McKinley, who would be held responsible before the country if silver legislation failed. As to the Conference Committee, its organization is such as to prevent the idea of favorable action except under the pressure of necessity. Vice President Morton has returned to Washington in order to control the appointment of the Senate members of the Conference, and had placed Sherman at its head—the man, who for years prior to 1873 had urged the single gold standard and who was responsible for the demonetization of silver in 1873. In the House Reed had appointed Conger and Walker, both of whom favor reducing silver to a commodity by bullion redemption.

Walker is a banker who favors money contraction, and having accumulated a large fortune, recently declared in debate, "The more money the more misery." Such was the effort of the gold men to absorb action on silver. He urged the Miners' Union of the silver States and Territories to unite with labor organizations to attend National Labor Conventions and voice their wrongs. He declared that if satisfactory silver legislation was beaten by tactics, another National Silver Convention would be called, at which a personal canvass would be conducted without regard to party against every man who voted to reduce silver to a commodity, and that they would be brought face to face with the farmers, the toilers and the producers at the polls.

He said that the great wealth yielded by Nevada instead of being devoted to her advancement, went to build up San Francisco, for the construction of railroads in the Atlantic, and stately buildings in New York. There is no monument of all this in Nevada, save the Virginia & Truckee railroad and the attenuated Carson & Colorado road, without beginning or end.

He asserted that one of the causes of the poor condition of Nevada is the indisposition of the men who have made fortunes in this State to build and develop her—unlike the citizens of Colorado, Montana, Utah and Wyoming, who founded and enriched such cities as Denver, Salt Lake, Helena and Cheyenne.

Another cause for the State's poor condition, he said, has been a want of harmonious development, all efforts having heretofore been directed to the development of the mining interest alone instead of being supplemented by agriculture, trade etc., which would go to make up a prosperous commonwealth.

To cure these evils Mr. Newlands advocated economy in the State and county governments by the adoption of a new constitution, the consolidation of county officers and county organizations, continued agitation for the remonetization of silver, which would renew activity in the mines, and the harmonious development of the State in agriculture, husbandry and other industries, as well as the mining interest.

He claimed that the railroads constituted important factors in this development; that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company as well as the Virginia & Truckee and Carson & Colorado railroads, in the latter of which he was interested, had not been guided by an enlightened self-interest. He contended that the valleys of the Truckee, Carson, Walker and Owens rivers on the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada could be made as fruitful as the valleys on the western slope in California; that a commercial emporium could have been built up at Reno rivaling Denver, Salt Lake, Cheyenne or Ogden, all of which had been built up in States similar to Nevada, and that such a city with its conveniences for transportation, the water power furnished by the Truckee, might have been the centre of commercial and industrial enterprise, the reservoir of capital from which aid would have been extended to the struggling industries of this State. He referred to the organization of the Nevada State Board of Trade, formed for the purpose of developing the State and increasing immigration; that it had not received the aid and support from the railroad companies which it deserved; that it is impossible to do anything in the line of development without the co-operation of the railroads; that self-interest should prompt them to respond; the assessment roll of the State had diminished from $55,000,000 in 1876 to $27,000,000 in 1889, and that the assessment of the Central Pacific had increased from $4,500,000 to $6,500,000; that if the present policy of the companies continued they would have to sustain all the expenses of the State government, and later on the State would have to be abandoned to the coyotes, gophers and railroads.

He declared the local roads could do nothing without the aid of the transcontinental road, the Central Pacific, to promote immigration; that the Central Pacific had a land grant in this State of nearly 5,000,000 acres, and it was time that the road was making an effort, like other railroads, to settle up the country; that every settler in Nevada was worth to the railroad three settlers in California, where rival lines seized upon their patronage; that notwithstanding the Central Pacific denied to immigrants all stop-over privileges in Nevada, and railroaded them through the State to California without giving the opportunity to Nevada of showing them the advantages of settling here. He declared that these conditions were the result, not of railroad hostility, but the inertia of men far distant and absorbed in affairs. He advised, not a vicious agitation, but the use of reason and persuasion which would enlighten the railroad officials as to the reciprocal interests of the road and of the State.

Mr. Newlands was free to confess that he and his associates had been equally negligent in the administration of the Carson & Colorado road, but they were willing to pursue a wiser policy if the co-operation of the transcontinental road could be secured.

ORGANIZE A GOOD BOARD.

I. F. MONTGOMERY GENERAL AGENT OF THE Columbia Building & Loan Association, is in the city for the purpose of organizing a local branch here. The Columbia is the largest association in the country and is increasing rapidly, its plan offering great satisfaction, both to investor and borrower. Instead of writing to the home office, when a loan is desired, the local advising board, orders the loan, providing the security is ample, the branch office in Reno, for instance, having exactly the same powers as the main branch in New York. Red tape and delay are thus entirely done away with. The rate of interest is 3 per cent per annum, payable in 12 monthly payments. Mr. Montgomery will call on our business men in the next few days and it is to be hoped a large local board will be organized. A branch with several hundred shares has just been formed in Winnetka, Minn. July 5-1w

Coon Hunt.

The Battle Mountain Central Nevada records the annexed:

Quite an exciting coon chase took place in Lewis canyon last week. It has been known for a long time that a stray coon, probably from some menagerie, is they are not a native of Nevada, was located in the hills of Lewis, and, as he was seen several times, some young folks made up their minds to capture him. After several attempts and long and anxious waiting, he was finally trapped by Miss Mina Williams, daughter of W. H. Williams, Superintendent of the Eagle mine, Lewis District.

Why Royal Baking Powder is the Best.

"The Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure, for I have so found it in many tests made both for that company and the United States Government.

I will go still further and state that, because of the facilities that company have for obtaining perfectly pure cream of tartar, and for other reasons dependent upon the proper proportions of the same, and the method of its preparation, the Royal Baking Powder is undoubtedly the Purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public.

A GLORIOUS FOURTH.

A CELEBRATION WORTHY OF THE NAME AND TOWN.

A Masterly Oration and Interesting Literary Exercises.

Reno celebrated the 114th anniversary of American Independence in true American style, in every respect worthy of the occasion, and in a manner highly creditable to the town. Hundreds of visitors came from the outside and the streets were crowded from morning until night. There was life and bustle and excitement all along the line, and throughout the entire day.

THE PROCESSION.

Marshal Flint attended to his part of the programme with accuracy and fidelity, and the procession moved like clock-work. It was formed in front of the Court-house and moved along the highways and byways as advertised. Hastings' brass band headed it, and played all the patriotic tunes known, receiving many compliments from all who "heard the band play." Brigadier General Bouton and staff, mounted on fiery chargers, presented a handsome appearance. The National Guard, of Virginia City, commanded by Capt. Morgan, looked like a company of the regular army, and attracted great attention. The Reno Guard boys, with Gatling gun drawn by four greys, looked very soldierly, and Captain Stoddard had every reason to hold his chin a little higher than usual. A very pretty feature of the procession was Liberty Hose Co., of Gold Hill, 66 boys strong, and the Warren Hose boys, of Carson, with 25 men and lovely cart. Chief Fraser, and the Monumental Hose boys, of Reno, with the handsome La France steamer, added to the No. 1 showing by the gallant fire ladders. The officers of the day, in carriages, were next in line, and were followed by the Car of State, with a bevy of lovely girls representing the different States and Territories, Miss Florence Hart doing duty as the Goddess of Liberty. The Floral Car was exquisitely exquisite, and Miss Mamie Chambers looked the ideal Floral Queen. Little Frank Campbell and Nina Blanchard impersonated George and Martha Washington, aping true Colonial style, and as they rode by on No. 6's horse cart, attracted particular attention from both young and old. The representation of various industries was clever. Shoemaker & Rath demonstrated that "the White is King"; R. C. Leeper had a harness shop on wheels; J. L. Stevenson made a good showing of the Cyclone windmills and the different styles of carriages, mowers, etc., at his establishment; Coffin & Larcombe made a showing of their establishment; Dr. Fredrick had a representation of a dental shop; Dixon Bros. advertised that they were pork and beef butchers; J. Westlake had his boot and shoe shop well represented; the Reno Mill & Lumber Co. made a good display of mill work and lumber, and Atkinson, with his ten draying teams, with wood, sand, ice and other things, showed that he was a live business man. Citizens in carriages and on horseback brought up the rear of the procession which, taken as a whole, was very good.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

The literary exercises at the Opera House were of a high order. Judge Webster made a few appropriate remarks as President of the Day, and Hon. Thos. Fitch fairly surpassed himself in his masterly oratorical effort, being such an oration as only such a gifted orator could deliver. Col. R. H. Lindsay read the Declaration in a grand manner, and the music of Miss Quail's choir was very charming. Miss Onie Gould's poem was well read, and heartily applauded.

THE HORRIBLES.

At 4 in the afternoon the Horribles turned out, and made Reno howl with their very bad racket, not overlooking Old Small whose allowance was small. The general burlesque was the best gotten up in Reno for many years.

IN THE EVENING.

The display of fireworks on the Plaza, in the evening, was witnessed by a vast crowd, and gave fair satisfaction, but the explosion of a box of fireworks resulted in burning and disfiguring three boys, Willie McLaughlin, Willie Bowman and Charley McCullough, and in frightening many other spectators.

Successful Planting of Rye Grass.

Geo. W. Crum has made a success of his rye grass venture, mentioned in the columns of the Central Nevada last October, when he scattered seed along the foothills of his ranges in Battle Mountain section, also on certain apparently dry alkali flats, which were known to him to be filled with moisture below the crust. The effort was an experiment on Mr. Crum's part, the results of which have been successful. A bunch of grass was left for inspection at the office, the stalk being six feet long, and those who are interested in the improvement of cattle ranges can call and see the same, being a practical illustration of what can be done, and proving that the grass can be raised without irrigation.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents feb. 21-27-97

A Hermit.

The Pioche Record tells this: "For three months past a strange man has lived in a tunnel or dug out east side of the limestone mountain over the head of Meadow valley St. within view of the Bullionville road. He is rarely seen but is said to be tall and heavily bearded. The dirt from his excavation is thrown up in the form of a barricade at the entrance to the place where he has made a double door with two small windows for peep holes. When first noticed some time ago he was observed bathing or nursing one of his legs as though wounded. His actions are decidedly suspicious. Who and what is he. Is he wanted anywhere?"

Police Court.

Since Thursday last Judge Young has docketed twelve arrests, a rather plentiful harvest for the fragrant Fourth. Eleven were juggled on the time honored charge of drunk and disorderly—four of the delinquents being Indians and the balance belonging to the nobler white race, unfortunately subject to such trifling defects like their copper-colored brethren. The twelfth man, named Wm. Weaver, was arrested on the serious charge of selling whisky to Indians.

The N. &amp; O.

There is a prospect that the N. & O. road may be extended to Madeline Plains this Fall. The advances in the price of steel rails from $27 to $35 per ton has kept the Moran Bros. from prosecuting the work of extension on the little narrow gauge, but if they find there is no hope of a reduction in the price of rails, they will go on with the work, at least, so they will not lose the preliminary work of last year.

Church Services.

Services at the Baptist Church at 11 A. M. and 7:45 P. M., conducted by the Rev. John Barr. Morning subject: "The Beauty of the King." Evening subject: "The Attractive Power of Christ."

Tag Social.

A tag social will be held on the lawn, at the residence of Mrs. T. K. Stewart, for the benefit of Trinity Sunday School Guild, on Wednesday evening, July 9th. All are cordially invited to attend.

NOTHING BY HALVES.

Red-Ryed for Office—Census Marshal Lammon's Recommendation.

An item in a late JOURNAL described Mr. Peter West's canvass for the United States District Judgeship. The Enterprise says he hails from Reno, and does nothing by halves. When he fastens his eye upon an office, he goes for it. He made three applications to Census Supervisor Lammon for the position of census enumerator, and finally got there, as will be seen by the following letter from Mr. Lammon to Chief Porter, which we are permitted to print through the kindness of the junior Lammon:

"Your telegram of this date (May 23) regarding Peter West received and answered in as few words as possible. Peter West is a most positive cure. He may have been a good soldier, but I am somewhat of the opinion that he ought to have been shot during the rebellion. His first made application for census enumerator hailing from Douglas county. I entertained it and wrote him words of encouragement; but in a few days I found out he didn't reside there, and I wrote him about it, and he withdrew his application, and put in an application for Ormsby county; knowing he did not reside there, and besides having my eye on two good men I refused his proposition. Soon thereafter he wrote me from Lovelocks, but as I had been to very much trouble getting good men for the places, I refused to recommend him for that district—besides, I have a good man for that place as there is in the State. After finding that I couldn't get any one for love or money to take Roop district I took Peter West's application for that, and it is now on the road to you for inspection. I think he will make a good enumerator, but I have every reason to wish he had at least been shot while in the army, as he could then be drawing a pension, and would not wish to be an enumerator, and would not annoy a Supervisor as he has me. Very respectfully,

GEORGE I. LAMMON,

Supervisor of Census.
